GIFTS AND POEM

AT GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Frink of Canterbury Entertained Relatives and Friends.

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey C. Frink, observed at their pleasant home on Canterbury street Tuesday afternoon and evening, was a very joyous and delightful occasion. Although an intensely disagreeable storm was prevailing, which kept many at home who were expected, a large and an appreciative company assembled, coming not only from Canterbury, but from Plainfield, Brooklyn and other towns, and even from out of the state. The sons and daughters were all present with their families and other kindfolk and ushers received the callers and from time to time conducted them to the dining room to partake of the delicious refreshments that had been provided.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with flowers, ferns and evergreens, and besides the congratulations and good wishes of their friends the still young-looking couple received many substantial evidences of the affection in which they are held.

After the dinner of the evening Andrew J. Hetrick read an impromptu and appropriate poem, which was well received and added to the interest of the anniversary.

READY FOR THE HOLIDAY.

Shoppers Supply Easter Needs on Thursday—Good Sales in Advance Lines—A Hint to Eleventh-Hour Shoppers.

The Weather Man smiled on the shoppers Thursday, and late in the afternoon the streets about almost a holiday, except that the parcels carried were tied with violet cord instead of the regulation scarlet twine of Christmas time. Stores were crowded, salespeople were busy and the fact that today is a holiday tended to hold the hands of the wise enough not to leave their purchases until the last day, Easter Sunday.

Handsome directed windows caught the attention of passersby. Naturally the Ascension day was featured in the floral adornment of some novel and striking designs were obtained by skillful window dressers.

Merchants were gratified at what might be called advance buying; the purchase of garments, dress goods and accessories for later summer wear. Sheer frocks for hot weather demands, fashionable sleeveless wraps, smart parasols, etc., appeared to sell equally well with coats, suits, hats, gloves and substantial for strictly Easter wear.

Among the handsome hats sent out Thursday was a dainty affair in black, with white band and modish white and black bird for adornment.

A changeable silk turban of a violet head and of fancy straw and trimming of a realistic silk dahlia.

A dressy hat in black band in white, and graceful willow plumes.

Many of the milliners and tailors must give up a portion of their holiday today to finish orders. All are looking forward to record Easter trade on Saturday.

Hundreds of beautiful garments, coats, skirts, wraps, suits, etc., have gone out, and scores of jaunty, modish hats have already been purchased, but stocks are still large and bold satisfactory supplies even for late commerce.

Need anything to make the holiday more enjoyable? Whatever your demand, it can be met by improving the suggestions offered by The Bulletin's enterprising advertisers today!

To Attend Fire Engineers' Meeting

Chief Stanton, Who is a Director in National Association.

Starts For St. Louis Saturday—Will Arrange For Convention in Denver—Invited to Inspect Motor-Driven Pumping Engines.

Saturday at noon Chief Howard L. Stanton, who has obtained a ten days' leave of absence from the fire commissioners, leaves here for St. Louis to attend a meeting of the officers of the International Association of Fire Engineers, who are to set the date, assign the papers and arrange the other details of the annual convention of the association, which will be held in Denver this year. Chief Stanton will leave New York Sunday morning and is due in St. Louis Tuesday morning.

The coming committee meeting of the officers will be unique in one respect in that it will be the first time that the plans for the convention are not made by meeting in the city where the convention is to be held. But because of the distance to Denver and the expense it would be for the officers to go there, St. Louis was selected as a central point for the meeting.

Chief Stanton, who is a director in the association, will come there to meet the officers of the association with plans of all the available auditoriums and halls and also with particulars about the hotels, one of which will be selected as headquarters.

The officers. All the officers who come together in this committee meeting are active chiefs and comprise the following: President, W. H. Loller, chief at Youngstown, O.; first vice president, H. P. McGee, Dallas, Tex.; second vice president, T. W. Hanes, Jacksonville, Fla.; secretary, James McCall, Rossmore, Va., and the three directors, Chief Stanton of this city, A. V. Bennett of Birmingham, Ala., and L. Q. Hawk of Moline, Ill.

800 Registered at Milwaukee. The business of arranging for the convention may take two days, or possibly may be concluded in a shorter time, thinks Chief Stanton. Last year in Milwaukee there were more than 800 men registered at the convention, but it is hardly expected so many will attend the gathering in Denver. If Boston had had a few more votes last year it would have won the 1912 convention, but Denver just beat her out by 4 to 5 votes. As the composition of the official board stands now, Chief Stanton is the only eastern representative on the board, a fact that speaks well for the standing that the Norwich representative has among his fellow chiefs in the service.

Nothing But Motor Driven Apparatus. Forecasting the exhibit that will be seen at the convention, Chief Stanton believes that it will be one of the greatest exhibitions of motor driven apparatus ever arranged. This will be the first time that a vote of the convention has made one man chairman of the exhibition committee. Chief Fred H. Wilson of Jamestown, N. Y., being given this appointment by vote of the Milwaukee convention. Eight to ten years ago, says Chief Stanton, a piece of motor driven apparatus was a curiosity, now nothing is shown but the motor driven.

Thursday Chief Stanton learned that while the chiefs are in St. Louis they will be invited to visit the plants of two St. Louis concerns which make motor driven pumping engines, and on his return trip he is liable to stop at Cincinnati to visit the Aaron Fox Fire Engine company, which makes both steam fire engines and the motor driven type.

According to his present expectations, Chief Stanton will not be back here until Tuesday, April 16th.

QUICK FIRE SERVICE

BY AUTO CHEMICAL. Responded to Fire on Mechanic Street—Mrs. J. J. Palmer Carried to Safety.

Mrs. Jonathan J. Palmer discovered fire in the closet of the kitchen at her home, No. 11 Mechanic street, about 2.30 o'clock Thursday morning, and an alarm was sent by telephone to the Central station. At the same time an alarm was pulled in from box 15, but the person did not pull the lever down, so that the alarm was given incorrectly. The West Main street company started in the wrong direction, but met the auto from the Central station and was set on the right track. The flexibility of the control of the auto chemical was shown in the way it was sent round curves at West Main and High streets and at High and Spring streets. The fire had eaten its way into the garret when the apparatus arrived, but was soon put out with two lines of chemical and one hose. There is a loss of several hundred dollars in the fire and water, but covered by insurance.

Eugene Boume lives in the downstairs tenement, Mrs. Palmer, who is an invalid, was carried out of the house to safety at a neighbor's.

Milady's Toilet Table

By MRS. D'MILLE

A simple home treatment that keeps the hair fine, clean, fluffy and glossy is dry shampooing once or twice a month with theroc. To prepare the powder, put a cupful of cornmeal (or four ounces of powdered orris root) in a fruit jar and mix with it a small quantity of perfume. Sprinkle a little on the head and brush it out thoroughly, and it will take all dirt, dandruff and excess oil with it.

A luxurious everyday toilet necessity of the choicest materials can be made at home at little cost by simply dissolving an original package of mason's in a half-pint witch hazel. Cover the face, neck and arms with this solution, and its purity, fineness and velvety softness will prove desirable and refreshing to the most sensitive skin. It beautifies
